Head Of Chain Started As Clerk

Louis D. Goldvogel, seventy-two, retired chairman of the board of D. A. Schulte, Inc., cigar store chain, died at his home, 12 Harrison Avenue, Red Bank, N. J., where he had been ill for some months. Mr. Goldvogel resigned last June as chairman of the board and a director after more than forty years service with the company. He started as a cigar store clerk in the old World Building on Park Row, when the late D. A. Schulte had only six stores in New York City.

When Mr. Schulte resigned in 1947, Mr. Goldvogel was elected president, and was made chairman of the board in 1949. In October of that year, formation of a new policy was announced, with the addition of a women's haberdashery and fashion accessories division in conjunction with the men's haberdashery that had been added to the original cigar and cigarette business. There are now more than 200 stores in the chain, extending from the east coast to the Mid-West.

Mr. Goldvogel spent much of his youth in Canada. In late life he made his home at both Deal and Long Branch, N. J. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Charlotte Lewis Goldvogel; two daughters, Mrs. Monroe Lewis and Mrs. John Socolchik; a brother, Harry Goldvogel, and a sister, Mrs. Mamie Michaels. His first wife, Mrs. Marie Louise Trudell Goldvogel, died last January.

JDC Requires $22,350,000 For Urgent Aid

Edward M. M. Warburg, chairman of the Joint Distribution Committee, asserted in New York that at least 400,000 Jews in Europe, Israel and in Moslem countries would need the assistance of his agency this year. Addressing 300 delegates at the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the organization at the Commodore Hotel, Mr. Warburg, who was recently elected general chairman of the 1951 campaign of the United Jewish Appeal, warned that Committee aid "cannot be postponed or reduced." He stressed that the "increasing gravity of world conditions has already established a number of emergency situations all over the world."

Mr. Warburg, who was unanimously re-elected chairman of the Committee for 1951, said that there must be an intensification of efforts to aid the "hundreds of thousands of Jews overseas for whom 1951 may well be the last hour before midnight."

Moses A. Leavitt, who was re-elected vice-chairman, declared in his annual report that the committee would require $22,350,000 this year to carry out its overseas relief, medical, welfare, emigration and other programs. He said that special emphasis would be placed on the Committee's increased social welfare responsibilities in Israel, where it anticipates spending $8,000,000 to care for "thousands of Israelis Reject Briton's View On U.S.

An assertion by a visiting British Labor Member of Parliament that Israel distrusted United States policy and that the United States had become unpopular in Israel brought a sharp rebuke to Richard Crossman, leader of the British Labor party's "keep left" movement, by Zalman Aranne, chairman of the Israeli Parliamentary Foreign Affairs Committee, reports the New York Times.

In his weekly column for The London Sunday Pictorial, Mr. Crossman wrote that Israel's one hope was that the Commonwealth Ministers meeting in London would find some effective way of "restraining the wild men in Washington, who seem intent upon dragging the free world into certain disaster."

He said that nothing but alarm and despondency had been caused in Israel by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's handling of the Korean war and President Truman's apparent inability to prevent him from dragging the United States' allies into a hopeless war against Communist China.

The column was written under the dateline, "From the President's House in Rehovoth," where Mr. and Mrs. Crossman are staying as the personal guests of Dr. Chaim Weizmann.

All these views, as well as Mr. Crossman's suggestion that Israel was eager to welcome British troops back in Israel, were rejected vigorously by Mr. Aranne. From what Government leaders, who did not want to be named, and many private citizens have said about the column, it appeared clear that Mr. Aranne was expressing not only the sincerely held opinion of the Government, but also the opinion of a vast majority of persons in Israel.

Of Mr. Crossman's suggestion that the [illegible] toward the United States, Mr. Aranne declared:

"This is not true and it is dangerous gossip. The Jews of Israel deeply and sincerely appreciate the assistance given them by the American people and their Government.

"For two years of great distress, the American people have been the only ones in the world who without economic or political conditions, have given us aid and are doing so to this very day. The nation will remember this."

Censors Review Ban On German

Strong protests by a few aroused persons have forced the Israeli Censorship Board to review its ban on the used of the German language for public entertainment. The ban was applied for the first time when Kenneth Spencer, American basso, scheduled songs by Brahms and Schubert in a recital at Tel Aviv.

The ban applied only to the German language, not to the music. This was only one of the inconsistencies of the order noted by the critics of the board, which is responsible for the censorship of plays and other forms of public entertainment. The board derives its authority from two 1927 ordinances introduced by the British Mandatory Government and never repealed.

According to the chairman of the board, Yaacov Kisselov, the ban was ordered after many objections had been received over the use of the German language. He did not say what, if any, particular event had brought on the objections. Whatever it was, it caused no outpouring of letters to newspapers, such as has been the case over the action on the American singer's program, says the New York Times.

The Israelis' aversion to all things that might be connected with the Jews' experiences in Germany during the period of Nazism has led to demonstrations or criticisms against artists in the past.

Yehudi Menuhin's violin recitals since the new state was founded have been the cause of bitter arguments over his alleged willingness to play for the Germans in Germany after the war. Tino Rossi, French singer, had difficulty in obtaining permission to land because he allegedly sang for German audiences during the Vichy regime in France.

This is understood. But few [illegible] of the Board's new order, which presumably would prevent the public reading of the writings of Theodor Herzl, the founder of political Zionism, or of the poems of Heinrich Heine, which were banned in Nazi Germany because he was a Jew.

The ban is all the more surprising when the extent of the use of the German language in the daily life of so many Israelis is considered. Next to Hebrew, it is most often heard in the babel of different tongues spoken by the people of Israel. There are two German language newspapers, and no one thought it odd that campaign speeches for the elections should have been made in German.

Bnai Brith And A.J.C. To Seek $6,000,000 Against Bias, For Intergroup Harmony

A joint campaign to support programs aimed at combatting prejudice and discrimination and promoting better group relations will be opened by the American Jewish Committee and the Anti-Defamation League of Bnai Brith. The national goal of the campaign, to be conducted by the Joint Defense Appeal, fund-raising arm of the two agencies, is $6,000,000, with half the sum assigned as Greater New York's goal.

The campaign, said to be the largest conducted for these purposes in the metropolitan area, was hailed as "a historic undertaking in the great tradition of American Jewish communal service" in a joint statement by Jacob Blaustein, president of the A. J. C.; Frank Goldman, president of Bnai Brith, and Meier Steinbrink, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League.

The aim of the campaign, they said, will be to strengthen the nation against the "agents of disunity." The A. J. C. and the A. D. L., they said, seek to attack prejudice through education in democratic attitudes and to take other actions to prevent infringement upon civil rights and to obtain further extension of those rights. The $6,000,000 goal, they said, represents the minimum figure needed to support the current national and overseas program of the two agencies to promote lasting intergroup harmony and to help destroy discriminatory practices.

"The advances of recent years toward realizing a fuller democracy for all Americans must be maintained and extended in this time of national crisis," their statement said. "America's progress in developing good community relations among religious and racial groups needs to be safeguarded from the bigots and hatemongers who are seeking to capitalize on present tensions to spread their own divisive propaganda."

Since the founding of the Joint Defense Appeal ten years ago, they continued, there have been many advances against prejudice, including the F. E. P. C. laws now enforced in nine states, Supreme Court decisions on restrictive covenants and segregated schools, the action of the Defense Department to bar racial segregation in the armed forces and in the "monu-

Tourists Dislike Austerity In Israel

Israel was visited by 36,000 tourists in 1950 compared with 22,000 in the previous year, an increase of more than 50 per cent. Nevertheless, the volume was disappointing in two respects:

1. Tens of thousands of Catholics had been expected to extend their Holy Year pilgrimages from Rome to Jerusalem, but fewer than 2,000 came.

2. Many visitors from the United States advanced their scheduled departure from Israel so that they might spend a week or so in Europe before going home.

Another reason for the disappointment was that the Arab authorities of Jordan had declined to permit pilgrims free movement across the armistice lines from Jewish Jerusalem to the Old City and Bethlehem, where the most important Catholic shrines are situated. Friction between Israel and the Vatican over the political future of the Holy City also was a factor.

Many tourists were dissatisfied because they were forced to share in Israel's austerity, reports the New York Times. The rationing and controls introduced by Supply Minister Bernard Joseph had brought down the prices of hotel rooms and meals, but tourists found that they could not get all the meat and eggs they wanted and hotel services and amenities were indifferent. Hotels did not supply such essentials as soap and it was almost impossible to buy.

Tourists were allowed five meat meals a week, compared with two for Israelis. They could have an egg for breakfast every morning, compared with two a week for Israelis. A minority of the visitors willingly shared the privations of the people, but most were resentful, arguing that restricting dollar-

Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Rockman, formerly of 5609 St. Urbain Street, now residing at 4917 Mariette Avenue, entertained at a family party in honour of the sixteenth birthday of their daughter, Theresa Rockman.

Entertaining for Miss Cecile Reinhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Reinhart, Dornal Avenue, prior to her marriage to Izzy Sweetko, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sweetko, of Ottawa, Ont., were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Sendler, Mountain Sights Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. A. Entus, Laval Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. H. Entus, St. Lawrence Boulevard; at dinner at their respective homes; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Levy, Summerhill Avenue, dinner, at 1490 Drummond Street.

Miss Dorothy Levine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Levine, Lacombe Avenue, and fiancee of Reuben Friedman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Friedman, Bloomfield Avenue, was entertained at a tea by her mother, with fifty guests present. Mrs. Levine received in a navy-blue crepe dress, with a V-neckline, lace bodice, slim skirt, with side drapery, and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Friedman, mother of the groom-elect, wore a black silk suit, designed with a roll collar that was edged with beading, a slim skirt, white satin blouse, black feathered hat, and a corsage of red rpses. The honouree assisted, in a black taffeta dress, with low scalloped neckline, and scalloped trimmings on the pockets, a full skirt, and corsage of white roses. Mrs. Harry Kugler, Hingston Avenue, sister of the groom-elect, in a black faille suit, and coral-shaded silk straw hat; and Miss Elinor Brown, Marlowe Avenue, in a green velvet suit, assisted in serving. White and red roses formed the table centrepiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Medovoy, 4830 St. Catherine Road, entertained at a dinner and evening, Mr. and Mrs. David Stromberg, Mr. and Mrs. Tobias Birenbaum, Mrs. Krandle Smolkin, George Medovoy, Mendel Vineberg, of Bronx, N. Y.; and Dr. Oscar Stromberg, of Battlefort, Sask.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Golden, Park Avenue, gave a birthday party for their son, Leonard, who was four years old. There was a birthday cake iced in white and blue with gold lettering. Leonard wore brown corduroy jumpers, with a yellow jersey top; yellow socks and brown shoes. Those present were: Seymour, his brother; Allan Brand, Allan Schwartz, Peter Whitfield, Donald Singer, Gordon Diamond, Gary Kirsch, Rhona Garelick, Marlene Brand, Rea Diamond, and Ellen Singer.

Mrs. Bernard Davis, Ducharme Avenue, and Mrs. Harry Aronson, Van Horne Avenue, entertained in honour of their aunt, Mrs. S. Straker, Dunmore Avenue who left recently to spend several months in Miami Beach, Florida. Present were: Mrs. Rose Zelicovitz, Harvard Avenue, and Mrs. S. Eichenbaum, St. Urbain Street, sisters of Mrs. Straker; Mrs. S. Gross, Dunmore Avenue, her daughter; and, Mesdames J. Slater, Dornal Avenue; G. Harris, Isabella Avenue; H. Aronson, Van Horne Avenue; Esther Davis, and B. Scharf, Notre Dame de Grace Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Melamed, 786 McEachran Avenue, entertained in honour of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Bessie Melamed, fiancee of Louis Vineberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Vineberg, Durocher Avenue. Yellow and white carnations, and red gardenias were used to decorate the room. Mrs. Melamed wore a black faille dress, with a decollete neckline; and a corsage of red roses. The honouree wore a black cocktail dress, with a net skirt, and a velvet top, studded with rhinestones and cut with a sweetheart neckline. Her corsage was of Talisman roses. The wedding will take place on September 8, at Chevra Kadisha Synagogue.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Zaracoff, City Hall Avenue, were hosts at a dinner for the immediate family, followed by a reception, in honour of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Zarakoff, fiancee of Nathan Ferstenfeld, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Ferstenfeld, Villeneuve Street West. Mrs. Zaracoff wore a black crepe dress, trimmed with taffeta, with a high neckline, and a taffeta tunic over a black crepe skirt. Mrs. Ferstenfeld wore a taupe coloured crepe dress with a V-neckline and slim skirt. The honouree received in a navy-blue crepe dress, trimmed with white beading, a stand-up collar, decollete neckline, and slim skirt, with side drapery. The table decoration was a centrepiece of white and red carnations.

Louis, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Silver, St. Urbain Street, was called to the Reading of the Law at Beth Yehuda Synagogue. He is the brother of Sheldon; grandson of S. Pascal, St. Urbain Street, and the late Mrs. Pascal; and of Mrs. B. Silver, of Toronto, Ont., and the late Mr. Silver. Kiddush was observed after the services. A dinner-reception followed at the Bucharest with one hundred and ninety guests present. The tables held floral centrepieces, and there were two compositions of mixed flowers on the table. There was also a trellis of white and red roses and ferns. Receiving, Mrs. Silver wore a rocoa-colour lace gown, trimmed with beading, having a V-neckline, and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. B. Silver, the grandmother, wore a lace gown in American Beauty colour, designed with a round neckline, and a similar corsage. Sheldon presented his bar-mitzvah brother with the talith. In the procession of the lighting of the candles were: Mr. Pascal, St. Urbain Street, and Mrs. B. Silver, of Toronto, Ont., grandparents of Louis; Mr. and Mrs. L. Pascal, St. Dominique Street; Mr. and Mrs. H. Pascal, St. Dominique Street; Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Pascal, Clark Street; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pascal, Esplanade Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pascal, Durocher Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rosenberg, Waverley Street; Mr. and Mrs. Nat. Silver, Mr. and Mrs. E. Silverberg, Mr. and Mrs. S. Silver, all of Toronto, Ont.; and Mr. and Mrs. P. Dean, of Brooklyn, N. Y., all uncles and aunts of the bar-mitzvah; Mr. and Mrs. A. Zalkind, St. Catherine Road; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berazuik, Jean Brillant Street; and the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silver. William Aronson, Marie Anne Street, was master of ceremonies; and speakers were Mrs. D. Zunenshine, St. Dominique Street; and Nat. Silver, of Toronto. Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. T. Morin and daughter, Miss Gertrude Morin, of Ottawa, Ont.; Simon Simcovitch, of Springfield, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dean, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. B. Silver, Mr. and Mrs. Nat. Silver, Mr. and Mrs. E. Silverberg, and Mr. and Mrs. S. Silver, all of Toronto, Ont.

Notice To Organizations:

Space in the Meetings department of the Review is at a premium with demands for service increasing all the time. Therefore, all organizations and institutions requiring publicity are advised to instruct their contributors that in order to be sure of publication any current week, news material should be in the Montreal office by five o'clock on Monday of that week. News for any department in the Review which is received earliest and submitted in the best condition for editing and printing is used first. Material should be typed double or triple space; first copy, no carbon; on one side of each sheet; and not on flimsy or colored paper. Material containing abbreviated or capitalized words; and names without correct initials; or without full first names for single women or girls is always omitted. The Review is here to serve. Make full use of publicity for the success of communal undertakings. If your news does not appear, there is a reason. Find out why.

MARRIAGES

PINCHUK-SCHWARTZMAN

The marriage of Phyllis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schwartzman, 152 Laurier Avenue West, to Abe Pinchuk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Pinchuk, 5425 Waverley Street, took place at Bnai Jacob Synagogue, on December 16, at seven o'clock. Dr. C. N. Denburg, Rabbi, officiated, assisted by Reverend A. H. Greenberg. The bride was given in marriage by her parents. Her gown was of white brocaded satin, in period style, with a tightly-fitted bodice; long sleeves, and full hooped skirt, gathered at the hem to show the four lace petticoats. She had a white crown, with tulle veil; and carried a bouquet composed of mauve orchids centred in a star-shaped arrangement of white stephanotis. Mrs. Samuel Reznick, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a beige gown, combining a gold-shaded lame bodice and ankle-length net skirt; also a gold-shaded crown, with a beige tulle veil. She had a green orchid arranged in a bouquet like that of the bride, but smaller. Goldie London, niece of the groom, was junior bridesmaid, wearing a long yellow dress, with a green velvet sash, and a headdress of yellow and red flowers; and carried a Colonial bouquet with flowers to match her headdress. Sol. Pinchuk, brother of the groom, was best man; and Allan Reznick, nephew of the bride, was a junior usher. Jerry Dubin and Eric Reznick, the page boys, wore navy-blue suits, with short trousers, white shirts, navy-blue bowties, and blue and white skull-caps. Palm trees, with ribbons and flowers marking the pews, were used to decorate the synagogue; and the altar was adorned with large bouquets of seasonal flowers. For the reception in the synagogue hall, vases of flowers were used to decorate the tables. Receiving, Mrs. Schwartzman, mother of the bride, wore a cinnamon-brown dress, with a beaded lace bodice, and crepe skirt; a matching hat, trimmed with gold-color; and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Pinchuk, mother of the groom, wore a dress composed of a blue lace bodice, and blue crepe skirt; a grey-blue hat, trimmed with rhinestones, and a corsage of red roses. The bride and groom spent their wedding trip at the Chateau Frontenac, in Quebec; and are living at 1521 Van Horne Avenue. Mrs. Anne Butler, of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. E. Korn, of Ottawa, Ont.; and Mrs. A. Goldman, of Vancouver, B. C., were present.

PERLMAN-MOSCOVITCH

The marriage of Doris, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mos Moscovitch, Clark Street, to Max Louis Perlman, son of Mrs. T. Perlman, Park Avenue, and the late N. Perlman, took place on Sunday, December 17, at six o'clock, at Chevra Kadisha Synagogue. Rabbi M. Fisch and Reverend A. Kenner officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a white floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and net. Fashioned with a Peter Pan collar, with long sleeves coming to points at the wrists, tight-fitted bodice made of lace, it had a skirt made of net and applique of lace trimmed with seed pearl beads. Her long veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a cap of net, made with applique of lace and trimmed with seed pearl beads, and she carried a cascade of orchids, carnations, and buddleia. Miss Betty Perlman, sister of the groom, as maid of honour, wore a strapless floor-length gown of yellow net, with matching cap caught with Talisman rosebuds; and carried a cascade of Talisman roses. Arlene Susan Bloomberg was flower girl, wearing an off-the-shoulder floor-length dress of mauve taffeta, with a hoop skirt, the net on the skirt caught up with little bunches of violets. Her old-fashioned cap was of matching material and she carried a nosegay of yellow, white, and mauve flowers, with mauve streamers. Harold Moscovitch, brother of the bride, was best man. The ushers were: Jack Shuster, Danny Rich, Carl Storfer, Harry Melnick, Philip Goldenberg, brother-in-law of the groom, and Louis Axler. The junior ushers were: Bernard Moscovitch, brother of the bride, and Barry Schwartz, cousins of the bride. In the wedding procession were Mrs. Leah Golditch, grandmother of the bride, wearing a dusty-pink crepe gown, with hat made of dusty-pink net studded with rhinestones, silver accessories, and a corsage of orchids; and Sydney Schwartz, uncle of the bride. White chrysanthemums, pink roses, snapdragons, and greenery were used to decorate the synagogue; and the aisle was adorned with white satin bows and candelabra. For the reception there, similar flowers, with candles, were on all the tables. "O, Promise Me" and "Because" were sung. Receiving, Mrs. Moscovitch, mother of the bride, wore a strapless gown of mauve Chantilly lace, with a jacket made with cap sleeves and a peplum; matching hat, trimmed with gold, gold accessories, and evening handbag with an orchid. Mrs. Perlman, mother of the groom, wore a light-blue crepe gown of lace, with a hat made of white feathers, silver accessories, and an evening handbag with an orchid. The bride and groom spent their honeymoon trip in New York, the bride travelling in a green gabardine suit, with brown accessories, a brown squirrel jacket, and a corsage of orchids. They are living at 3070 Linton Avenue. Mrs. Edward Ellin and sons, Morton Ellin and Everett Ellin, aunt, and cousins of the bride, all of Chicago, Ill., were wedding guests.

ROSEMARIN-MOSCOVITCH

The wedding of Jeanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Moscovitch, Jeanne Mance Street, to Lazare Rosemarin, St. Joseph Boulevard West, son of the late Reverend A. Rosemarin and Mrs. Rosemarin, took place at Beth David Synagogue, on Thursday, December 14, at twelve o'clock noon. Rabbi I. Teicher and Cantor J. Ilin officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. Moscovitch. She wore an ankle-length gown of gold lace, with a Queen Elizabeth collar, long sleeves coming to points at the wrists, tight-fitted princess bodice and a flared skirt. Her yellow feather hat was arranged with a yellow tulle veil and she carried a Bible decorated with pink roses and streamers. Mrs. Max Gold, sister of the bride, as matron of honour, of Ottawa, Ont., wore an orchid-coloured taffeta cocktail dress, with a short-fitted jacket, also a matching hat, trimmed with rhinestones, and matching tulle veil. Her bouquet was made of red roses. Morris Rosmarin, brother of the groom, was best man. The groom was given in marriage by his sister, Mrs. B. Spivack, of Bronx, N. Y., and his brother, Jacob Rosemarin. In the wedding procession were Mrs. Jacob Rosemarin, sister-in-law of the groom; and Max Gold, brother-in-law of the bride, of Ottawa, Ont. Potted plants, palms, and centrepieces of roses were used as decorations. Samson Rosemarin, nephew of the groom, played the organ. The choir and soloists sang compositions which were composed by the late Reverend A. Rosemarin, father of the groom; and other music. For the reception in the community hall, there were table centrepieces of roses and a wedding cake. Mrs. Moscovitch, mother of the bride, received in a black dinner gown, trimmed with sequins, with a black felt hat trimmed with sequins, long black gloves, and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Moscovitch, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a navy-blue satin suit, with an off-white felt hat trimmed with red roses, and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. B. Spivack, sister of the groom, of Bronx, N. Y., wore a navy-blue crepe afternoon dress, with matching hat and a corsage of red roses. The bride and groom spent their honeymoon in the Laurentian Mountains, the bride travelling in a beige tweed suit, with a cerise-colored felt hat, trimmed with rhinestones, brown accessories, and a grey lamb coat. They will reside at 373 St. Joseph Boulevard West. Mrs. B. Spivack, sister of the groom, of Bronx, N. Y.; J. Bloom, of London, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Gold, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, and daughters, Shirley and Rhoda, of Ottawa, Ont.; and Mrs. S. Jacobson, aunt of the bride, of Toronto, Ont., were wedding guests.

WJC GETS DP CAMP CLOSING PUT OFF

Dr. Robert S. Marcus, director of the Central Office of the World Jewish Congress, expressed appreciation to Geoffrey Lewis, Deputy Director, U. S. State Department Bureau of German Affairs, that "the closing of the Lechfeld camp for Displaced Persons in the American Zone of Germany has been postponed to January 31, 1951." He was hopeful that the change in the plans for closing the camp this year, which would have caused severe hardship, will make it possible to properly house the present inhabitants of Lechfeld at Feldafing and Wolfratshausen DP camps in the American Zone. Mr. Lewis told the Congress that the new closing date will make it possible to properly house all Jewish DPs now at Lechfeld at Feldafing and Wolfratshausen, where adequate space and adequate facilities would then be available.

The Congress had pointed out to the Department of State that the premature closing of Lechfeld camp would have meant depriving its 1,628 legally registered Jewish DPs of shelter of any kind during the winter months, since the facilities of the other Jewish DP camps in the American Zone of Germany, Fernwald and Feldafing, were very much overtaxed. WJC had also explained that temporary limitation of opportunity for immigration to Israel at present would prevent those who wish to go there from leaving before next Spring, so that accommodations were necessary for these prospective immigrants until then.

Israel Ponders Role In Defense

Reports have reached Israel that the United States and Britain are considering placing responsibility for defense of the Middle East solely with the British. There has been no indication that the decision has been taken yet, and it is hoped that the results of the Commonwealth Conference now going on in London will provide a clearer indication of the West's plans for this area, reports the New York Times.

Despite Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's reiteration of Israel's official policy of nonidentification with either the East or West, his preoccupation with defense matters in a speech to Parliament revealed continuing concern to discover what place, if any, Israel had in the West's strategic planning.

It is thought that Britain's willingness to undertake responsibility for the Middle East without United States participation will depend to a large extent on what manpower help can be obtained from other Commonwealth countries, particularly Australia and New Zealand.

One other way of fitting Israel into the West's planning if no understanding is reached with Britain has been discussed unofficially. This is by associating Israel with the North Atlantic Pact through agreement with Turkey. A warm friendship and close relations have developed between the Ankara and Tel Aviv Foreign Offices recently, and reports of discussion of an Eastern Mediterranean pact, to include both countries, have persisted against a number of official denials.

But a tie-up with Britain is considered more logical and workable and it is believed that the British War Office has been arguing for it, so far, with the British Foreign Office unwilling to go along because of fear of further antagonizing Egypt, says the Times.

It is thought likely, however, on the basis of information brought recently by unofficial but informed Britons, that if negotiations with Egypt remain stalemated British leaders will approve tentative War Office plans to establish a large base in Jordan near the Gulf of Aqaba as an alternative to maintain large forces in Egypt.

Establishment of such a base probably would require an "understanding" with Israel. It has been pointed out that a base in South Jordan could fulfill British needs only if swift transport of troops across the tip of Israel's Negeb were assured.

In contrast to their feeling about the matter less than a year ago, the Israelis probably would welcome a British decision to build a base in Jordan now. For one thing, they believe it would help provide Palestinian Arab refugees in Jordan with work and a feeling of security, without which, it is believed no peace talks are possible. For another, it would make the Israelis themselves feel more secure about the Egyptians.

It is the Egyptians first and the Syrians next whom the Israelis have in mind when they speak of the possiblity that the Arabs may start a "second round" to throw the Israelis into the sea. A peaceful Jordan, separating the Egyptians and Syrians, would, it is felt, lessen the chances that Egyptian generals could persuade King Farouk to try to avenge the 1948 defeat.

SAYS ISRAEL HAS SERIOUS TB PROBLEMS

Dr. Allan Hurst, medical director of the National Jewish Hospital at Denver, Colorado, who returned from Israel, reported that Israel was confronted with a serious tuberculosis problem and added that six out of every 1,000 residents "were active, urgent tubercular cases."

Dr. Hurst, who consulted with Israeli medical authorities, pointed out that prior to the record influx of immigrants in Israel, the tuberculosis rate was less than one per thousand.

In a series of recommendations to the Israeli authorities, Dr. Hurst, who was formerly supervisor of the Bureau of Tuberculosis for New York City's Health Department, called for an increase of pathologists, chest surgeons and anaesthesists. He also recommended the immediate purchase of 5,000 beds, the utilization of old barracks, barns and all abandoned buildings for the care of tuberculosis sufferers. The increase in tubercular cases, he added, was seriously impairing the economic upbuilding of the country.

Missing meals won't necessarily bring those smooth slim lines, but they make you thin, weak and susceptible to cold and flu germs. To reduce, follow a diet prescribed by your doctor. He will see that it contains necessary nourishment without the fattening elements.

A New York Congregation, 125 Years Old, Mirrors The History Of Jews In America

BY RABBI ISRAEL GOLDSTEIN

The celebration of the 125th anniversary of a Jewish Congregation in America is an important event in the life of American Jewry. Congregation Bnai Jeshurun is the second oldest Congregation in New York and its oldest Ashkenazic Congregation. When it was founded there were less than 10,000 Jews in the United States and no more than 3000 Jews in New York.

In 1825, the year of its establishment, the Erie Canal was just opened to traffic, reducing the travelling time between Buffalo and New York from twenty days to six. A strange contrivance called the locomotive, invented in England had not yet reached the 50-year-old republic on the west side of the Atlantic. John Quincy Adams was president and Washington Irving the most popular author. Free public school education was just being introduced. There were 20 stars in the American flag.

The Jewish life of the nation revolved around seven congregations—two in Philadelphia, and one each in New York, Savannah, Charleston, Richmond, and Cincinnati.

The Sephardic congregation of Shearith Israel on Mill Street, the oldest synagogue in America, organized in the 17th century, was the only gathering place for the Jews in New York. As the numbers of Dutch and English Jews increased, they initiated the movement for an Ashkenazic Congregation, whose ritual was modeled after that of the Great Synagogue of London. It looked to Chief Rabbi Solomon Hirschell, of London, for spiritual authority. The leading Jewish citizen of New York during that period, Mordechai M. Noah, was a friend and benefactor of the new congregation.

The Congregation appealed for financial help to the Jewish communities in Curacao and the islands of the Caribbean Sea which were the older and more prosperous communities on the American continent. It depended for its spiritual and cultural sustenance upon European Jewry. It was visited occasionally by emissaries who sought alms for the Chalukah Jews in Palestine.

Today, American Jewry is providing huge material aid to Jews in all parts of the world, is itself a great centre of Jewish cultural and spiritual life and is the chief source of economic and political support for Medinat Israel, having played a part in its establishment, second only to the heroic part which has been played by the Israelis themselves.

In all of these epoch-making developments, Congregation Bnai Jeshurun has had a leading role. It has absorbed in the course of its history every stream of Jewish immigration which came to the shores of the new continent, Jews from Russia and Poland, from Germany, France, and Italy, from Turkey and Persia. It was a Zionist congregation long before Hitler and has been in the forefront of active support for the United Jewish Appeal and the Jewish National Fund. In 1949 alone, the Congregation membership contributed $1,510,000 to the United Jewish Appeal, an unparelleled record for any Congregation.

Bnai Jeshurun's first Synagogue, located on Elm Street and converted from an old church, was dedicated June 29, 1827, with 600 people crowding the benches. The president was John I. Hart. Prominent among the founders were Benjamin Morange, Daniel Jackson and Abraham Mitchell. Benjamin Morange, before coming to the United States, attained distinction abroad as Minister from France to Spain under Napoleon I. Daniel Jackson was the first president of the Hebrew Benevolent Society in New York which was organized in 1822. Abraham Mitchell was one of a handful of Jews who served in the war of 1812.

As the city expanded, the population moved northward. By 1848, the old synagogue had been outgrown and a new house of worship was dedicated on Greene Street. In the meantime, a new Congregation had been formed as an offshoot from Bnai Jeshurun, Congregation Shaaray Tefila, which was dedicated in 1844.

The period beginning with the dedication of the Greene St. Synagogue ushered in a flourishing career for the Congregation which made the name of Bnai Jeshurun foremost in the Jewish life of New York. A new stream of Jewish immigration was filtering in, the Congregation was in an affluent condition and its synagogue the most magnificent in the city. In a book, "The Great Metropolis," published in 1852, it was called "The Great Synagogue." Its members were the leaders of the community bearing responsibilities in the rapidly growing communal agencies such as the Hebrew Benevolent Society, the Hebrew Mutual Society, the Jews' Hospital which later became the Mount Sinai Hospital, The Hebrew Free School Association, the Hebrew Sunday School Association and others.

The first spiritual leader of Bnai Jeshurun to attain national eminence was Rev. Dr. Morris J. Raphall. Even before coming to America he had attained an international reputation in England as a scholar and orator. In New York, he was looked upon as the foremost defender of modern Orthodoxy against the invasions of the Reform movement in the Synagogue which was gaining strength throughout the country.

In 1855, a new Synagogue was dedicated on 34th Street, west of Broadway. Bnai Jeshurun's star was in the ascendant. The membership numbered many of the most prominent Jewish families in the city. Many a civic and Jewish welfare movement was born within its walls. During this period, the Congregation had been closely identified with several Jewish movements of nation-wide scope. It played an important part in the organization of the Board of Delegates of American Israelites in 1859 and in the establishment of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America in 1866.

The Congregation's fourth house of worship was erected in 1885, on Madison Avenue at 65th Street. A number of changes had been introduced into the service, such as the family pews and the organ. The Synagogue service was eminent for its beauty and dignity. The Jewish community of New York was at this period at the beginning of the great expansion of Jewish life resulting from the multitudinous immigration of Jews from east European countries.

New problems, industrial, social and economic were springing up. Jewish congregations, too, were changing their complexions. In this process of change, Bnai Jeshurun was not unaffected. The ministry of Rev. Stephen S. Wise, from 1893 to 1900, was marked by the building of a large Religious School and the organization of the Sisterhood. From 1900 to 1918 the ministers were Rev. Professor Joseph Mayer Asher, Rabbi Benjamin Tintner, Rev. Dr. Judah L. Magnes, and Rabbi Joel Blau.

In 1919, Congregation Bnai Jeshurun dedicated its new house of worship on 88th Street near West

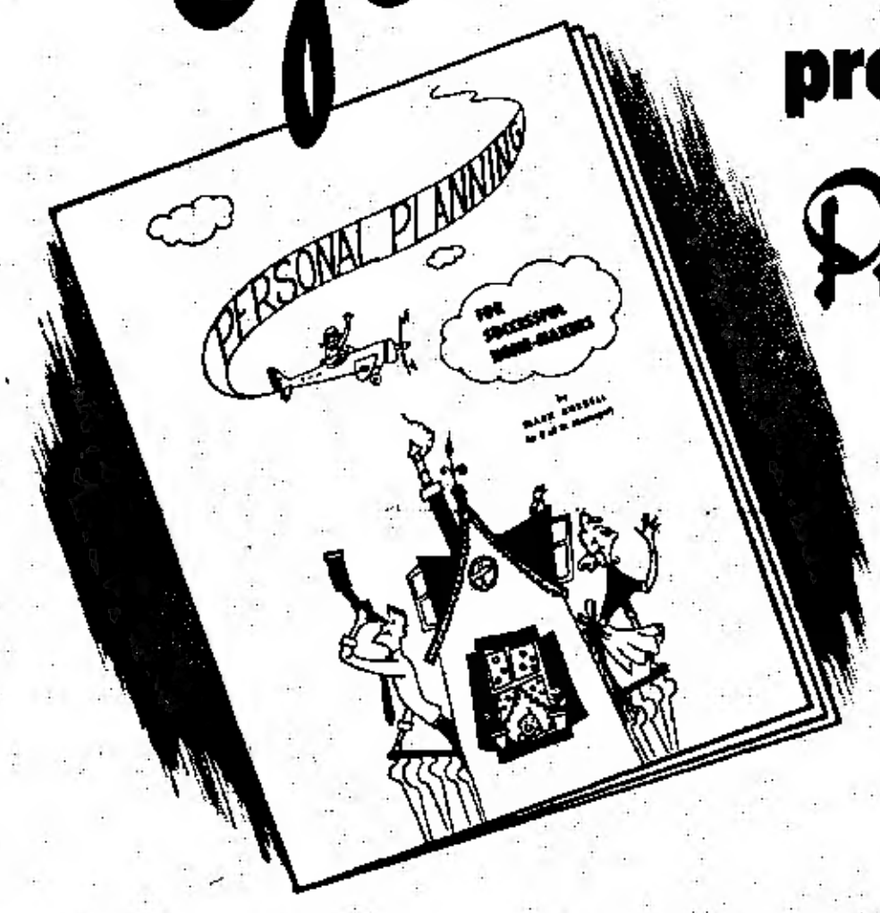
You can cut down your money problems...with Personal Planning



DO YOU RUN YOUR MONEY, OR DOES IT RUN YOU?
Can you make your money do for you the things you think it should? You can . . . with Personal Planning.

BE MASTER OF YOUR MONEY . . . With Personal Planning, you can be boss of your budget . . . you can organize your life to rid yourself of "day-after-pay-day" worries. More than that, besides living within your income, you can make the most of your money with Personal Planning.

PERSONAL PLANNING FOR EVERYBODY . . . Get yourself a copy of our new booklet, "Personal Planning", and you'll see what we mean. Whatever your job in life . . . whether you're a factory worker or office clerk — stenographer or housewife — farmer, fisherman, miner or businessman . . . you will find it immensely practical in dealing with personal and family financing.

NO MONEY MIRACLES . . . Personal Planning doesn't deal with money miracles — or show you how to get rich overnight. That's something we know nothing about. But it does deal with money management. As bankers to the Canadian people for 133 years, we do know something about this.

HOW TO GET THE MOST OUT OF YOUR MONEY . . . "Personal Planning" is a cheery little book that tells you — whatever your income — how to get yourself on a sound financial foundation . . . how to get the most out of your money.

Call in at your nearest B of M branch and ask for a copy. There's no obligation . . . except to yourself.

WHAT IS Personal Planning?

Personal Planning is more than mere budgeting . . . that, by itself, is dull.

Personal Planning is a positive financial program for successful individual and family living — a program for progressive and provident people — people who have ideas for their future and want to make them real.

That's why Personal Planning is so different. It is a plan that faces the fact that all of us must live on what we have — not on what we wish for. It also faces the fact that a budget-plan should never choke the fun out of life. It shows you how to put yourself on your own payroll, as well as the butcher, the baker and candlestick-maker. It shows you how to build for tomorrow, while you enjoy today. Yes, and it shows you how to get the most out of life with what you earn.

In Personal Planning, the important thing is: IT'S NOT HOW MUCH YOUR INCOME IS . . . IT'S HOW YOU USE IT.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING ABOUT Personal Planning

Personal Planning was introduced on a test basis to visitors at the Canadian National Exhibition last autumn. Thousands of people responded to our invitation and asked for copies of "Personal Planning for Successful Home-makers."

"Up-to-date and practical for present living conditions," is what one visitor wrote us after reading the booklet.

"I needed this advice very badly," wrote another, "and you have already helped to straighten out a quarter of our personal problems."

"Excellent pamphlet," said a third. "My budget-plan will be organized within a month."

Voluntary Curb on Spending Would Speed Re-armament and Preserve our Free Economy

Physical controls useful but no substitute for a real attack on inflation. Non-military expenditures must be cut. President proposes four-point anti-inflation programme

How the inflationary spiral can undermine the very basis of free Canadian democracy and the positive steps which should be taken now to meet this threat were emphasized by James Muir in his Presidential address at the annual meeting of shareholders of The Royal Bank of Canada.

The Korean war, said Mr. Muir, and the threat of war elsewhere, had posed new inflationary problems on an economy already fatigued by the long struggle against inflation since the close of World War II. "We no longer have that excess capacity in capital and manpower that made possible more guns and more butter in the early years of the last struggle.

"Full employment of men and resources is a symptom of economic strength in peacetime. It means however that any additional demands upon the economy can be met only by curtailing demand elsewhere. This means that the additional demand upon our economy arising out of rearmament must be met by cutting back our normal peacetime demand for capital and consumption goods.

COST OF REARMAMENT

"This curtailment of peacetime demand is the cost of wartime rearmament. This cost cannot be postponed. It must be met at once. And the fundamental problem of war economics is to ensure that only the least essential part of peacetime demand is thus curtailed.

"In this way we can reduce the dislocation of our economy caused by new armament expenditure. If we can reduce this dislocation we can increase the effectiveness of our war effort, and at the same time we can ensure that the freedom we aim to defend will in fact be preserved.

"What part of peacetime demand can most economically be sacrificed to the needs of defence?

"There are broadly three areas of demand in which cut-backs might conceivably be made. They are (1) the demand by consumers, especially for durable goods; (2) the demand by business for materials needed in the expansion of plant and equipment; and (3) the demand by government for non-military goods and services.

"Further inflation can be avoided if the money value of increased armament is offset by the reduced demand by consumers, business and government for non-military goods and services.

CONTROLS NOT ENOUGH

"Once the limits of voluntary saving have been reached we are forced to rely on increased taxes, and on physical controls. Physical controls may operate indirectly through credit curbs or directly through government allocation of scarce materials combined in various degrees with price control and rationing.

"These physical controls are not, properly speaking, deflationary at all. From bitter experience after the last war, we know that physical controls conceal but do not directly reduce inflationary pressure. They attack the symptoms and leave the disease itself unchecked. Their proper use is to divert demand from scarce to relatively less scarce goods and services; or, in some cases, to provide a stop-gap until fiscal and monetary policy can reduce inflationary pressure through direct action. Physical controls have their use, especially in total war, but they are no substitute for devices that really attack inflation.

TO FIGHT INFLATION

"The suggestion made in this appraisal of ways to fight inflation would, I think, be broadly acceptable to a majority of citizens, whether inside or outside the government. I would summarize them as follows:

1) Voluntary saving through the patriotic restraint of consumption should be encouraged, by the precept and example of government, business, and private citizens; i.e., through less non-military expenditure by government, less capital expansion by business, and less consumption (especially on credit) on the part of private citizens.
2) Voluntary saving should be encouraged, borrowing discouraged, and fiscal policy made effective by allowing a continued movement towards higher interest rates.
3) Taxes required to prevent inflation should penalize consumption and reward saving, whether through direct taxes on consumption or through income taxes that exempt to some degree the bona fide saving of the public.
4) Direct controls, especially in the form of price control and rationing, should be measures of the last resort, and should be treated as stop-gap devices, not as substitutes for a true anti-inflationary policy.

"Perhaps we should not ignore the possibility that, having failed to realize their hopes of capitalist collapse through post-war depression, the communists are now trying to engineer capitalist collapse through the inflationary pressure of a continuous armaments boom. But once the required amount of armaments expansion has been determined, the inflationary problem created by that expansion must somehow be met.

"As a means to this end I should like once more to emphasize the moral and economic obligation of democratic governments to maintain ordinary expenditures at the lowest possible level. If democratic governments fail to meet this obligation, they will in effect be giving a measure of aid and comfort to the enemy. At this stage, the most important weapon in the whole arsenal of war controls is the control of ordinary government expenditure.

Emphatically, the price of our safety is not only expenditure of vast sums provided by savings and taxes, but eternal vigilance over the uses to which these funds are put. A major defence effort has such an impact upon our economic resources and our standard of living that a democratic government would be guilty of criminal negligence if it did not do all it could to preserve the free economy by confining its ordinary expenditures to the absolute minimum.

"We have all heard it said at one time or another that American capital is taking over our economy. My reply is simply that, if this is true, then we have no one to blame but ourselves. If Canadian capital is not playing a large enough part in developing our resources and expanding our industry, the reason must be not that Canadian capital is too meagre for the job, but that, in spite of the high stakes, Canadian capital refuses to take the risk. From here on let us see to it that our vision, our energy and our risk-taking spirit are not found wanting.

Actually a new spirit of enterprise is abroad in the land—personally I have great faith in it. I believe this is the spirit appropriate to the true Canadian character.

It may not be too much to hope that Canada may become, as it were, a working model of the free economy in action, and a constant reminder to the world at large that the road to economic freedom is also the shortest and safest road to social progress."

INCOME TAX COULD BECOME TWO-EDGED SWORD

The most powerful weapon in the fight against inflation is generally supposed to be a stiff increase in the income tax. But the test of efficiency must be that any income tax increases shall penalize spending and reward saving.

Such a criterion would rule out drastic increases in corporate taxes, especially excess profits taxes, tend to encourage waste in management; and, in addition, excess profits taxes are arbitrary in their impact and inflationary in their final effect.

The personal income tax is itself a blunt instrument that may hit spenders and savers alike; nevertheless it may prove to be the only weapon with sufficient power to check spending, even though in the process some saving is hit as well.

To minimize these faults, and to ensure fairness, I would suggest that any increase in income tax burdens should recognize: (1) that an effective attack upon inflationary spending can only be made by broadening the tax base through lower personal exemptions; (2) that equity demands the vigorous reduction of income tax evasion, now all too apparent outside the fixed wage and salary group; (3) that equity and efficiency alike demand the exemption from income tax, wherever possible, of the bona fide saving of the public. In its simplest form, this might include the limited exemption of insurance premiums and of net purchases of savings bonds over the year.

I am aware that to implement the third suggestion may be work for a genius in political and social invention; but, if so, we should be looking for him. Otherwise, as tax rates rise, the blunt instrument of the income tax may become a dangerous and perverse weapon that penalizes saving even more than it penalizes spending.

The failure to exempt saving when income taxes are very high will not only reduce their power to prevent inflation in the short run, but may in the long run prove a positive danger to democracy itself. The extremes of "left" and "right" in the world today are mediated in the great democracies by a strong middle class. It would be a tragedy indeed if democracy should perish because, in the supposed interest of its own defence, it liquidated this guardian of democratic institutions.

General Manager Reports 2 Million Deposit Accounts

T. H. Atkinson, General Manager, in reviewing the bank's 1950 Annual Report, stated that total assets of The Royal Bank of Canada now exceeded $2,497,000,000, the highest point in the field of Canadian banking. Deposits had also increased materially to reach $2,337,503,468, the highest point in the history of the bank.

There had also been a gratifying increase in the number of the banks' depositors, the actual number of accounts being over 2,000,000, practically 1,900,000 of which were in Canada. "Since January 1, 1946, the number of accounts on our books in Canada has increased by about 600,000, or 46%," said Mr. Atkinson.

An increase of $926,895 in profits was noted by the General Manager. After providing for the usual deductions, including taxes of $4,012,000, and dividends, there was a carry-forward to profit and loss account of $3,059,725, bringing this amount to $6,920,039. From this total, $6,000,000 has been transferred to the Reserve Fund, which now stood at $60,000,000.

NEW BRANCHES

"During the year, 15 new branch offices were completed, in addition to which rather extensive renovation were made to 63 other offices. Work was commenced on an additional 14 new branch buildings and 19 extensive alteration projects which work had not been completed by the year's end. We have opened 24 full-time branches and 1 sub-branch. We are now operating 653 branches and 87 sub-branches in Canada."

AID TO TRADERS

The General Manager reported another satisfactory year for the bank's branches in the West Indies, Central and South America, and in other areas outside Canada. He noted particularly the important service performed by these branches in facilitating and promoting trade between Canada and other nations. An important and necessary complement to the Government's trade activities "are the banking services and first-hand knowledge which our branches abroad can and do contribute. With our chain now numbering 61 offices outside of Canada and, with officers who have been trained on the ground, speak the language, and are fully conversant with local requirements, we are in an unrivalled position to assist Canadian exporters and importers and all those directly interested in the development of foreign commerce. Over the years the foreign service of the bank has offered excellent opportunities to young Canadians who have desired to make a career of international banking. Such opportunities still exist for young men of courage who have the background and preparation required to qualify for important posts in our foreign network of branches.

TRIBUTE TO STAFF

"The gratifying figures we have before us today are due to a very large degree to the efficiency, enthusiasm, and aggressiveness of the members of the staff from junior clerk up, and it is fitting that I should say to them a formal but very sincere 'thanks' for a job well done.

"In the ordinary day-to-day business of the bank, our staff continued the happy tradition of friendliness always associated with The Royal Bank of Canada.

"For their friendly conduct of business as well as for their readiness to rise and meet emergencies, I express the thanks of management to our almost 12,000 staff members and as well to those other employees of the bank who contribute so much to the efficiency of the organization.

"I can assure the Directors and shareholders that morale is high, and that whatever new crises come upon us in the now-opening year, your staff will measure up.

A NEW YORK CONGREGATION

End Avenue. A few months after the dedication, it was my privilege, immediately upon graduation from the Jewish Theological Seminary, to become its rabbi, an association which has continued until the present, and which has given me years of abundant blessings and opportunities for service to my faith and my people.

The many civic and religious tasks which came as a result of World War I, the provision of relief for distress at home and abroad, the call to aid in the upbuilding of Palestine and the urgency of providing for the needs of Jewish education in America and for the maintenance of institutions like the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, have presented responsibilities which the Congregation has fulfilled with credit. Aware of the pressing problem of inter-faith and inter-racial understanding, the Congregation has rendered notable contributions in this direction. One of its recent demonstrations in this field is the citation of a Brotherhood Award each year to an outstanding Christian, given by the Congregation's Men's Club.

In 1928, a magnificent Community Center was erected on 89th Street on a site contiguous to the Synagogue. Unsurpassed facilities were thus made available for the religious, educational, social and cultural program of the growing congregation and of the larger community.

The period of the economic depression which set in with 1929 was a test for many public institutions and organizations. Bnai Jeshurun came out of it intact with its membership undiminished and its program unimpaired.

The years 1933-1948 were fifteen years which shook the world, probably the most epoch-making years in human history, for they witnessed the rise of the Hitler menace, the outbreak of World War II, the Nazi extermination of six million Jews in Europe and the uprooting of millions of others, the defeat of Hitler's Nazi Germany and its fascist allies, the organization of the United Nations and the establishment of the State of Israel. These events imposed heavy responsibilities upon the Jews of America whose numbers and economic position made them the strongest and therefore the most responsibility-laden Jewry in the world.

Bnai Jeshurun's awareness of Jewish problems and responsiveness to Jewish and civic needs, its record in the United Jewish Appeal, Jewish National Fund and Zionist Organization of America, the Jewish Theological Seminary, and in the promotion of good interfaith and inter-race relations in the community, has been second to none. In November, 1949, it granted me a year's leave of absence to serve in Israel as treasurer of the Jewish Agency.

Bnai Jeshurun ministers to one thousand families. On High Holidays, five congregations worship under its auspices in the synagogue and community center. Its religious school has close to 400 children who receive instruction weekdays as well as Sundays. Its Adult Studies program, its Sisterhood, Men's Club, Parent-Teachers' Association, Young People's League, Junior Congregation, Bar-mitzvah Brotherhood, Boy Scout and Girl Scout Troops and 98 philanthropic, fraternal, cultural and social organizations meeting in its community center, constitute an extraordinary network of Jewish and civic communal services.

Standing at this 125th anniversary milestone, the Congregation faces the past with gratitude and the future with confidence, albeit prayerfully and hopefully. As opportunities for service grow, may our power to serve grow in equal measure. "God be with us as He was with our fathers."

Z.O.A. Sends Rich Cargoes To Israel

The S. S. Henrietta Szold took to Israel ZOA-procured merchandise for the Israel Veteran's Committee, and the S. S. Haifa carried building materials for the ZOA Daniel Frisch House now being completed in Tel Aviv. The first cargo included 62,000 pounds of kosher meat, large quantities of other food, tractors donated by the Southern Pacific and Westchester Zionist Regions, sets of encyclopedias and other literature for kibbutzim, the Hebrew University and veterans' hostels, medical equipment for the General Zionist Kupat Holim (Sick Fund), a sewing-machine factory for Kfar Glickson and a Trade School for the Israel Goldstein Village in Katamon near Jerusalem, which was donated by the Philadelphia ZOA. The latter also collected large quantities of food, materials and equipment. Councilman Louis Schwartz, of Philadelphia, Pa., through his own contributions and others, secured two tons of rice. Another large item is three tons of powdered milk. The Israel project was financed by the Philadelphia Zionist Fund. The ZOA purchased 1,000 brand new heating stoves from U.S. Government surplus for immediate shipment to Israel. Additional heating equipment and blankets are being collected by districts throughout the U.S.

Three new one-act plays, dealing with contemporary Jewish life, and published by the national education department of the Zionist Organization of America, may be produced royalty-free by amateur dramatic groups. They were prize-winners in the recent ZOA $1,000 playwriting contest and were selected by the three judges, Moss Hart, Eddie Cantor, and Norman Corwin. "Action in Jezreel", by Elihu Winer, is a dramatic account of a strange meeting between a British officer and a group of Haganah members in Israel. "Son Of His Generation", by Louis I. Newman, depicts the motivations which stirred a young American to emigrate to Israel. "Twilight Sleep", by Dr. Harry T. Zankel is a fantasy of a woman who at the very door of the hospital delivery room changes her mind and decides not to deliver her child because of the sufferings he will have to endure as a Jew. Each play requires approximately thirty minutes for presentation and may be staged with little effort by local dramatic groups. Printed copies of the plays are available from the ZOA Education Department, 41 East 42nd Street, New York 17, New York.

The Royal Regiment of Canada

"Ready, Aye, Ready". With this proud motto, the "Royals" were formed in 1862 as the 10th Battalion Volunteer Rifles of Canada. Renamed the 10th Battalion Royal Grenadiers in 1881, they won battle honours during the Northwest Rebellion, the South African War and in many of the great battles of World War I. The "Royals" received their present name in 1939 after amalgamation with the Toronto Regiment. In the Second World War the Royal Regiment of Canada served in the immortal raid on Dieppe and in the fighting following the Normandy invasion. Proud of their glorious past, the "Royals" are one of Canada's honoured regiments in which . . . TRADITION COUNTS.

Miss Ruth Gwartzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Gwartzman, Spadina Avenue, whose marriage to Dr. John Goldberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Goldberg, Manning Avenue, took place on January 14, at Yeshiva Torath Chaim, was entertained at dinner by Misses Phyllis Sandler, Dupont Street; Mildred Tamyanko, College Street; Frances Gerstein, College Street; Doreen Kotzer, Markham Street; Ruth Zysman, Madison Avenue; Doreen Wengle, Bloor Street West; Ruth Skolnick, Clinton Street; Esther Brown, Howland Avenue; and Anne Finkelstein, Oxford Street. They presented her with a crystal water pitcher and glasses.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Berger, 123 Glenayr Road, celebrated the bar-mitzvah of their son, Gerald Arthur, brother of Earl and Dorothy; grandson of Mr. and Mrs. N. Weisdorf, 166 Brunswick Avenue; who was called to the Reading of the Law at Goel Tzedec Synagogue, with Rabbi Norman N. Shapiro officiating. At a dinner and dance in the evening, in the Crystal Ballroom of the King Edward Hotel, Mrs. Berger received four hundred guests, wearing a gown of champagne-coloured net, with corsage of mauve orchids. Miss Dorothy Berger, sister of the bar-mitzvah, wore a net ankle-length gown of blending shades of pink and mauve, with corsage of white gardenias. There were thirteen candles on the horseshoe-shaped birthday cake. Earl Berger was master of ceremonies. Seasonal flowers in variety, and blue lighted tapers, composed the table decoration.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cohen, Glen Cedar Road, entertained one hundred and twenty-five guests at Kiever Synagogue, in honour of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stein, 578 College Street. Mrs. Stein wore a blue crepe dress, cut with V-shaped neckline, short sleeves, and straight skirt; with a corsage of pink and white roses. Mrs. Cohen wore a strapless dress of mauve silk print, with full skirt. Candles were lit by: Mr. and Mrs. J. Cohen, Morris Stein, Mr. and Mrs. S. Stein, Harry Wucker, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. D. Saltzer, of Chatham, Mr. and Mrs. A. Leopold; Mr. and Mrs. S. Cohen, of Guelph; Mr. and Mrs. S. Koreen, Mr. and Mrs. H. Molson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hundert, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bregman, Mr. and Mrs. S. Brockman, Louis Stein, of Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. B. Shaffer, of Montreal, Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. H. Stein; and Sheldon and Barbara Cohen. Vari-coloured roses and light white tapers adorned the table.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Blumenfeld, Grosvenor Street, celebrated the bar-mitzvah of their son, Samuel, brother of Hyla; who was called to the Reading of the Law at Brunswick Talmud Torath. At a dinner at Bais Yehudah Synagogue the following day, there were two hundred guests. Mrs. Blumenfeld wore a black crepe dress, fashioned with square neckline, short sleeves, and full skirt, with mauve orchid corsage. The candles were lit by: M. B. Saltman; Mr. and Mrs. A. Pionka, Mr. and Mrs. M. Neiman, Isadore Bayer; Samuel Bernick, of New York; uncles and aunt of the bar-mitzvah boy; Mr. and Mrs. J. Grad; Misses Edith Garfinkel and Florence Oliner, of Hartford, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Weisblatt; Mr. and Mrs. S. Bernicker, Lawrence Pollack, and Samuel Bernicker of New York, cousins of the bar-mitzvah boy; Miss Blumenfeld, and the parents. Morris Neiman was master of ceremonies. The birthday cake was in the shape of an open Bible, and decorated with blue and white roses. The table was decorated with an arrangement of mixed seasonal flowers, and lighted white tapers. Mrs. J. Potts, of Brantford; Mr. and Mrs. D. Matlow, of Kitchener; and Mr. and Mrs. H. Cohen, of Orillia, were present.

Miss Marion Weisfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Weisfield, 67 Millwood Road, whose marriage to Bernard Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Sherman, of Hamilton, takes place on January 28, was entertained at luncheon, in Hamilton, by the groom-elect's mother, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Alfred Sherman, also of Hamilton. There were about one hundred and forty guests. Mrs. A. Sherman wore an afternoon dress of salmon-colored taffeta, with corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Alfred Sherman was in a dress of black nylon, having a bengaline jacket, with corsage of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Samuel Weisfield, the bride-elect's mother, wore a navy-blue tissue-faille afternoon dress, with corsage of yellow roses. Miss Norma Sherman, sister of the groom-elect, assisted, in a black metallic lace ankle-length dress. The honouree wore an ankle-length, pale blue, nylon net cocktail gown, with matching stole, and wrist bouquet of white gardenias. Those present from Toronto were: Mesdames J. Lewis, Shaw Street; B. Lebofsky, Concord Avenue; B. Marcus, Manning Avenue; P. Marcus, Huron Street; S. Shrott, Montrose Avenue; S. Mandel, Hawarden Crescent; L. Mandel, North York; M. Mandel, Maplewood Avenue; J. Mandel, Dufferin Street; R. Barenberg, Palmerston Boulevard; Misses Mitzi and Phyllis Lewis, Shaw Street; Mimi Brenbel, Euclid Avenue; Gail Weinstock, Warwick Avenue; and Barbara Talle, Shannon Street. Vari-colored roses, chrysanthemums, and carnations, with white lighted tapers, composed the table decoration.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Steinman, 204 Queen Street East, celebrated the bar-mitzvah of their son, Howard Gerald, who was called to the Reading of the Law at Drildzer Synagogue. The next day, at a dinner and a reception at Murray House, there were one hundred and forty guests. Mrs. Steinman wore a gown of black lace over satin, designed with square neckline, long sleeves, and full skirt with corsage of red roses. Assisting Mrs. Steinman were Misses Doreen Starkman, in a mauve moire cocktail gown; and Geraldine Cannal, in a black crepe cocktail gown. Those who lit the candles were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Steinman, St. Andrews Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. I. Jacobs, Dundas Street West; Mr. and Mrs. M. Steinman, Grange Avenue; Mrs. H. Silverberg, of Detroit, Mich.; I. Frankel, of New York; Mrs. S. Finkel, of Detroit, Mich.; Marvin Tenenbaum, St. Andrews Avenue; Mrs. L. Wine, of Detroit, Mich.; Arthur Steinman, St. Andrews Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. I. Karp, Claxton Boulevard; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winston, Benson Avenue; Miss Pauline Starkman, McCaul Street; Jack Starkman, McCaul Street; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Veltheer, Sherbourne Street; Mr. and Mrs. Steinman, and Howard Gerald, the bar-mitzvah. J. Lent, Oriole Parkway, was master of ceremonies. The birthday cake was in the shape of the tablets of the Law. The bar-mitzvah boy made a speech in English at the dinner. Vari-colored seasonal flowers, with blue lighted tapers, decorated the table. Out-of-town guests were: David Glasner, of Montreal, Que.; Mrs. H. Silverberg, Mrs. S. Finkel, and Mrs. L. Wine, of Detroit, Mich.; and I. Frankel, of New York.

NUT SMACKS

Cream one-half cup white sugar and one-half cup butter or shortening. Add two beaten egg-yolks, and mix well. Sift one and one-half cups flour, with one teaspoon baking powder; and a pinch of salt. Add to first mixture, and blend; add one teaspoon of vanilla. Spread in a greased eight-by-eleven-inch shallow pan. Beat two egg-whites until stiff; add one cup brown sugar. Add one cup shredded coconut; and one-half cup chopped nuts; and mix carefully before spreading on top of first mixture, in pan. Bake in a 300-degree oven, for one-half hour, or until golden brown. Cut into squares.

ORANGE CAKE

one-half pound shortening
one cup granulated sugar
three eggs
one cup milk
two cups flour
few grains salt
two teaspoons baking powder
one orange
one lemon

Cream the shortening, add sugar, cream well. Add the well-beaten eggs, then the milk and mix well. Sift flour, salt, and baking powder together and add to mixture. Add grated lemon and orange rind, also all the pulp and juice. Put in pan nine by twelve inches, and bake at 350 degrees for thirty-five minutes.

If you are looking for a delightful Pareve Vegetable Soup

Try this

TASTE TEST

...at home!

Four recent taste-tests, two among dietitians, showed an overwhelming preference for Heinz over its nearest competitor. 70% of these dietitians voted HEINZ first place. In no case did the "taster" know whose soup she was eating.

We invite you to make a similar test in your own home. Just heat a tin of Heinz Vegetable Soup Without Meat and a tin of any other meatless brand . . . serve half helpings of each . . . and take a vote when everyone has tasted the wonderful difference. It probably will be two to one for Heinz.

PAREVE-MEATLESS STRICTLY VEGETARIAN

Heinz Vegetable Soup Without Meat contains no ingredients whatsoever contrary to Jewish Dietary Laws.

HOT ROLLS double-quick!

with wonderful new fast-acting DRY YEAST!

PARKER HOUSE ROLLS

Measure into large bowl, ½ cup lukewarm water, 1 tsp. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 1 envelope Fleischmann's Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 min., THEN stir well. Scald 1 c. milk and stir in 5 tbs. granulated sugar, 2½ tsps. salt; cool to lukewarm. Add to yeast mixture and stir in ½ c. lukewarm water. Beat in 3 c. once-sifted bread flour; beat well. Beat in 4 tbs. melted shortening. Work in 3 c. more once-sifted bread flour. Knead until smooth and elastic; place in greased bowl and brush top with melted butter or shortening. Cover and set in warm place, free from draught. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough in bowl, grease top and let rise again until nearly doubled. Punch down dough and roll out to ½" thickness. Cut into rounds with 3" cutter; brush with melted butter or shortening. Crease rounds deeply with dull side of knife, a little to one side of centre; fold larger half over smaller half and press along fold. Place, touching each other, on greased pans. Grease tops. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in hot oven, 400°, about 15 minutes.

● No more spoiled cakes of old-style yeast! This new Fleischmann's DRY Yeast keeps fresh in your pantry! And it's fast-acting. One envelope equals one cake of fresh yeast in any recipe.

● CANADIAN Jewish Congress, with a number of Jewish organizations, synagogues, cultural groups, youth groups, women's groups, the YM-YWHA, and the Jewish Public Library, will hold a cultural festival, from January 20 to March 6, with an exhibition of Jewish Canadiana and of the press of Israel, and an exhibition of paintings and ceremonial objects at the Snowdon branch YM-YWHA. There will be sermons, lectures on literary and historical themes, an exhibition of ORT work, a performance by the Israeli Symphony Orchestra, the opening of the children's section at the Jewish Public Library, a symposium and exhibition on books for children, receptions for J. I. Segal and Rachel Korn who recently won literary awards, and discussions on Jewish education. Lavy M. Becker, chairman of the Congress education committee, said: "The extent of the Jewish cultural programs included in the cultural festival is indicative of the awareness on the part of many groups of the importance of programming on high levels. This is true not only during Jewish Cultural Festival month but throughout the year. It is also true that, unfortunately many groups are either indifferent to or neglectful of our Jewish heritage. It is our hope that the highlighting of Jewish Culture during this Festival month will stimulate the Jewish community of Montreal, individuals and groups, towards an ever deepening interest in Jewish art, letters, music and the like. Such an interest will in turn, encourage our talents to great cultural creativity, the sign of a highly civilized people."

Commentaries

By Dr. Harry J. Stern, Rabbi

Backward Or Forward

"Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward"
(Exodus 14:15)

Moses, in Jewish tradition the greatest of men, found himself in a most perplexing situation when, with the erstwhile enfranchised Israelites, he faced the raging waters of the Red Sea and behind them were the pursuing hosts of Pharoah. Moses, in the hour of trial, if he had been weak, might have given up all hope. The multitudes of the Israelites must have trembled and their fear must have added to the anxiety of the great leader.

The Midrash well points out that not only were the people distracted by fear, but were demoralized because of divided counsels. One group in this hour of trial cried, "Let us cast ourselves into the sea." Another group yearned to go back to Egypt and submit to slavery as long as they could have their "cucumbers". But the most hopeful group was the one that stood by Moses ready for giving battle to the enemy and to follow their leader. Moses, unto whom came the vision of the Promised Land, knew no fear. Unto him came the divine behest to "go forward", and so he marched with his people, braving the waves of difficulty. Leader and people found a path through the floods and reached yonder shore while their tyrannical pursuers were overthrown.

Not a life is worthwhile that does not at some time or other face a sea of difficulty; not a life that is not at some time or other oppressed by enemies in the rear. The only way out is to follow the God-given command, "God forward!" Most people do not like this advice. The attitude of the majority, either because of physical or mental laziness, is to "let well enough alone." We speak of such people as the conservatives. These do not wish to tread the unknown. Now, while in normal times the conservative has his place and purpose, we must remember that new occasions demand new duties.

And yet civilization has only been made possible because leaders have refused to let well enough alone and have dared to venture and pioneer. For, after all, mankind is ever under the law of change, and the divine within man bids him to march onward. The whole history of civilization is a commentary on this noble text from the book of Exodus, "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward."

How did early man who was without knowledge come to know religion, marriage, family, if it was not that he dared to go forward and refused to remain a brute? All that man has achieved and all that he yet hopes to achieve he owes to his refusal to "let well enough alone." Because the world has been blessed in particular with giants of the spirit who beheld heavenly visions, we have today a civilized society. But these leaders and reformers often were made to suffer martyrdom by those who never knew the art of dreaming.

Well does the Talmud record that he who fails to be possessed by a dream at least once a week borders on wickedness. The best elements in our civilizations are due to the brave and heroic who dare to challenge the closed minds and hardened hearts of the masses of people.

A Jeremiah could not help but cry out against those who knew not righteousness. It was within him like a raging fire. He had to speak. The so-called nice people who "sold the poor for a pair of shoes" hated the prophet Amos because he rebuked and ridiculed the rich citizens of Jerusalem who believed that as long as they brought their sacrificial offerings to the Temple all would be well with them. He castigated them for their lack of true religion which expresses itself primarily in ethical conduct and righteousness. Mankind can only advance under the impulse of those who believe in going forward.

Turn the pages of history. Who is it who made possible the discovery of America? A poor Genoese sailor who held to the conviction that a westward path could be found to India. Columbus was ridiculed by the conservatives. But all of us, residing in the Americas today, bless the name and memory of that brave sailor, Columbus, who discovered a new continent.

An illustration from modern Jewish history of a man who dared to go forward amidst all difficulties is none other than the brave Rabbi Isaac M. Wise. He came to America in 1846. He found Jewish life in a state of confusion and chaos. He set out to reform and reformulate Jewish religious observances and Jewish thinking to make them in harmony with the American environment. He yearned for a Judaism that was not shackled by mere blind ritualisms but would be a dynamic faith that would dare to implement the noble teachings of prophets and rabbis in daily living. He sought order and emphasized the aesthetic as well as the prophetic of the Jewish religious heritage.

But because Isaac M. Wise ventured forth to create, he suffered. He was even thrown from his pulpit platform on Rosh Hashonah day by an official of the synagogue in Albany, New York, and Wise landed that day in jail. But between Rosh Hashonah and Yom Kippur a new congregation came into being in Albany. And today Beth-Emeth is one of the leading synagogues, part of our Union of American Hebrew Congregations which Wise founded. Of course, this teacher who dared is one of our Jewish immortals and to him American Israel is indebted for the founding of American Reform Judaism.

What finer example of leader and reformer who believed in marching forward is there than that greatest Jew of the 19th century, the immortal Theodor Herzl? We all rejoice today that there is a Jewish state in Palestine. But a half century ago Herzl proclaimed the vision. He was denied and ridiculed. The rich and so-called Jewish notables slammed their doors in the face of this so-called visionary and dreamer. Jewish idealists and intellectuals shared Herzl's dream. But it must be said that this great Jew died of a broken heart at the indifference of those who could have been helpful but refused. Somewhere, Herzl in bitterness did write in his personal diary that he had a better opinion of his fellow-Jews than they deserved. No wonder that he felt that way. But thank God for Herzl and thank God for the reality of his dream in our own day.

Courage and truth must be our guide though men often desert us. We must resolve ever to march forward. A synagogue like unto an individual cannot stand still or it will ossify and die. A living institution must ever show hospitality to the new ideas of a new age.

I know of no time where there was greater need for a religious revival than in the very precarious present. The scientists even cry for the need of the spiritual in a world so overbalanced by the material. But, in order for the world to advance, men and women must grow in spiritual integrity and dare truly to be religious by practicing righteousness and justice in all their dealings with fellowman. Not backward but forward must be our resolve and the beloved community will yet arise where "every man will sit under his vine and fig tree with none to make him afraid."

Led In Social Work, Labor Affairs

Dr. Jacob Billikopf, a leader in social work, Jewish philanthropy and labor arbitration, died in University Hospital, after a long illness, at the age of 67. For forty-five years Dr. Billikopf had held important executive positions with public and private welfare agencies. He was equally well known for his activities in behalf of the New School for Social Research, of which he was a board member, and Howard University in Washington, D. C., of which he served as chairman of the executive board.

Dr. Billikopf was a former executive director of the Federation of Jewish Charities of Philadelphia. Previously he was superintendent of the United Jewish Charities in Milwaukee, and Kansas City.

He served as impartial chairman of the Men's Clothing Industry of New York in the Nineteen Twenties and as chairman of the National Labor Board for the Philadelphia region during the Thirties. In recent years he had been director of labor relations for the Philadelphia department stores.

Born on June 1, 1883 in Vilna, Russia, he came to the United States in his youth and attended schools there. In 1903 he received a Ph. B. degree from the University of Chicago. Thirty-nine years later the university's alumni association awarded to him a citation for "service to community, nation and the world." He received an LL. D. degree from the University of Richmond in 1928.

Dr. Billikopf began his career in social work in 1904 as superintendent of the Jewish Settlement of Cincinnati. During his subsequent work with the Jewish charities in Kansas City he also served as vice-president of the Kansas City Board of Pardons and Paroles and a member of the Kansas City Board of Public Welfare. In 1911-1912 he was president of the Missouri State Conference of Charities.

He was a former president of the National Conference of Jewish Social Workers and of the National Conference of Jewish Social Service. Shortly after the end of the first World War he directed a campaign to raise $25,000,000 for Jewish war sufferers.

Among his many other executive jobs were the chairmanship of the Ladies Garment industry of Philadelphia, the vice-presidency of the American Association for Old Age Security and chairmanship of the Philadelphia Committee of One Hundred on Unemployment Relief.

During the Hitler regime Dr. Billikopf was executive director of the National Coordinating Committee for Aid to Refugees and Emigrants from Germany. A trustee of The Nation and Survey magazines and a director of the Labor Standards Association, he served also as a member of the Pennsylvania State Welfare Commission.

Dr. Billikopf resided in New York, at 235 South Fifteenth Street. He leaves his wife, the former Esther B. Freeman, one-time dean of physical education at Tufts College, whom he married in 1942, and two children, David M. Billikopf and Mrs. Florence Schweitzer. His first wife, the former Ruth Marshall, died in 1936.

aged, ill and handicapped newcomers through the agency known as Malben."

Mr. Leavitt's report called also for emigration aid to an estimated 25,000 men, women and children who are seeking to reach new homes in the United States, Canada, Australia, South America and other areas; and for continued relief, welfare, medical and reconstruction programs in behalf of "hundreds of thousands of Jews in Europe—particularly Hungary and France—and in Moslem lands in North Africa and the Near East."

Mr. Leavitt said the Committee last year transported 192,000 emigrants to new homes, 180,000 of them to Israel. Despite the curtailment of many of the committee's programs in 1950, Mr. Leavitt reported, 160,000 Jews in Europe, North Africa and the Near East received direct relief.

Mr. Leavitt said that this year his agency would assume full financial and administrative responsibility for Malben, the organization caring for "hard core" immigrants to Israel.

"Malben," he said, "is already caring for some 3,000 'hard core' patients, blind, tuberculous, aged or physically handicapped men and women, in a network of institutions throughout the Holy Land."

Dr. Joseph J. Schwartz, re-elected director general of the agency, who also is executive vice-chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, called for widespread support of the appeal's campaign to "guarantee a decent future for the hundreds of thousands of Jews still in need of aid."

The Joint Distribution Committee, the United Palestine Appeal and the United Service for New Americans are the beneficiaries of the United Jewish Appeal campaign.

ISRAELIS REJECT

Two things about Mr. Crossman's column have been resented particularly. One is his use of the President's house as a dateline, thus, in the opinion of Government officials, implying that what he said had the president's endorsement. The other is that, as the newspaper Haboker put it, the Briton should attempt to identify his own stand on the Korean question with the general feeling in Israel.

His feeling is that of the minority section in the country — the Mapam pro-Soviet political party and the Communists. Together, Mapam and the Communists polled only 15 per cent of the votes in both the 1949 general elections and the recent municipal balloting. Together, Mapam and the Communists polled only 13 per cent of the votes in both the 1949 general elections and the recent municipal balloting.

The Government may disagree with certain aspects of the handling of the Korean crisis, and it does not want to go to war with China, but it stands squarely behind the United States in the belief that aggression must be condemned and resisted.

In foreign policy the Government and a great majority of the people are on the side of the United States and the Western World. Premier David Ben-Gurion made this clear in a parliamentary speech, criticizing those who would take the Soviet Union's words about peace at face value and, without naming sides, warning that Russia had left the West no alternative but to rearm to meet the threat of Russian aggression.

mental" report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights.

The three Jewish leaders warned against complacency, however, pointing to the existence of rising tensions in the current scene, says the New York Times. "There are in the United States today sixty-six organized anti-minority groups, issuing propaganda through forty-seven newspapers and periodicals and reaching the public, through bigoted commentators, over more than 100 independent radio stations. Last year several of the largest hategroups raised more than $1,000,000 to promote anti-Semitic, anti-Negro and anti-Catholic propaganda.

"These are the focal centers of infection," he said. "There are also the deeply imbedded discriminatory practices — quota systems in colleges and professional schools, discrimination in hotels, resorts, sports, housing and in economic fields." These practices, they said, are "a threat to our national unity and are being exploited by unscrupulous forces, on both the right and the left, to weaken and divide our nation."

TOURISTS DISLIKE

spending by visitors was not the way to deal with the dollar shortage.

Prices for lodgings with breakfast ranged from $2.27 in hotels comparable to lower middle-class hostelries in the United States, to $5.63 in the best hotels. Austerity meals cost from 81 cents to $1.44.

Toward the end of the year, new measures were being taken to relieve tourists of the ordinary restrictions. Special hotels and shops were being designated for dollar-spending visitors. Non-austerity meals could be had in them for $2.58 to $3.16, but only in dollars. Rationed foods, textile and leather goods could be bought by visitors in unlimited quantities in the special shops provided they paid in foreign exchange.

These shops and hotels are Government-supervised and the foreign exchange they earn will accrue to the state.

Mrs. Alec E. Wagman, of Boston, Mass., former president of the New England Region of Hadassah, women's Zionist organization, has organized and will head the Wagman-Israeli Service Plan to provide Israelis with shoes as gifts from Americans. The project, with offices in the Little Building, 80 Boylston Street, Boston, will make gift certificates available at from $8 to $12, which can be used in various shoe stores in Israel. She said she got the idea on a recent visit to Israel, when she found many of the children barefoot and unable to buy even the one pair of shoes allowed each year under rationing, Mrs. Wagman said.
